daughter. She came in a basket Wednesday morning, at a very tender age, and call-ed at the front door all alone. Of course they are delighted to be so suddenly called papa and mamma.

Mrs. Joseph Willard, a lady about 80 years of age, living with her son at Fair-banks village was found dead on the floor in her chamber Sunday afternoon. She was morning and found at four p. m., dead.

On Wednesday evening the PARMER office and a few friends enjoyed a short but very pleasant call from our agricultural editor of Randolph, plead guilty to arson, in the while on his way to the Board meeting at East Berkshire. A partial promise was observed by Judge Powers to eighteen East Berkshire. A partial promise was obtained that he would be this way again and make a longer stop in a few weeks. Mr. Hubbard is deeply interested in his work.

Our item about Lairds' granite works last week didn't tell the whole story. They have in their employ, in all, fifty-two hands, and are building more granite monuments than any other concern in the United States. They have machinery for polishing and are working it to its utmost capacity.

We are glad to notice the return of Frank S. Streeter after a year's absence in the West where he has been the principal of a high school. Frank goes now to Bath, N H., where he pursues the study of law with A. B. Carpenter, Esq. The daily paper of Ottumwa, Iowa, where he has been, speaks in the very highest terms of his management Frank seems to be eminently successful as a teacher, and will be no less so as a lawyer.

The Vermont Reform School.

The plan for constructing the new building at Vergennes for the Vermont Reform School has been settled upon, by Hon. Victor Atwood, and the superintendent, Mr. Fairbanks, and the contract has been awarded to E. H. Daniels, who did the carpenter work on the building at Waterbury. He was the lowest bidder, and is said to be a thorough mechanic. The expense will be kept within the appropriation, and the work substantially done. The stone dwelling known as the officer's quarters is to be made suitable for a reformatory for the girls. The large stone arsenal building will be

A very curious circumstance has become known in connection with the treasury robbery. A few years ago twenty thousand dollars were stolen from the treasurer's of-fice, and upon the same day it was discovered that a certain nameless gentleman, with several friends, visited the vaults. Of this twenty thousand dollars six thousand only some unknown parties to the credit of the treasurer of the United States through a and making their products are firm in robbery was ever discovered. It happens that on the same day when the forty-seven thousand dollars were taken this very gentleman who went through the vaults several years before when the twenty thousand were taken, also visited the vaults with several friends. There may be nothing in this peculiar coincidence, but it is a fact which has come to the knowledge of the detectives, and which is being considered by them:

From the numerous Testimonials received, the following are selected

To the Secretary of Wash. Co. Agricultural Society.— Your committee awarded to A. W. Gray & Sons, the Society's diploma and a prequium at the annual fair.

The secretary of Glens Pall, N. Y., states he threshed and cleaned with a one horse machine in one day, 204; bushels of oats. To the Secretary of Wash, Co. Agricultural Society.—
Your committee awarded to A. W. Gray & Sons, the Society's diptoms and a premium at the annual fair.
These machines have been well known and much used by farmers in this county, more of them in use we think than all of others, needs from us no commendation, but we will specially mention and call attention to some improvements made in its construction, which was before. This machine heretofore that been the only horse power threshing machine which was capable of being used as a simple thresher, a thresher or or separator. Or a thresher, sejarator and cleanes combined, or the cleaner may be used separately by hand or power. Other combined machines have not this advantage, that so f being used esparately.
This machine as heretofore constructed was in many separate parts, which sometimes was a disadvantage in setting us and running. Now by a little change in its construction, the number of separate parts is lessened and by the use of a few boils the combined machine is remiered practicably one frame possessed of the advantage of a solid frame machine which losing none of the seivantages of using each part separately when desired. This cannot but add largely to the aiready world wide reputation of these machines.

M. E. Paraca, Waterbury, Vt., writes under date of Sept. 39th, 1371, says he threshed 405) bushels of oats in 17 mioutes with a two large and moved it is unlies during the time.

A. W. Gray & Sons—Gentlemen.—The Two horse Dewer Thresher and Uleaner I purchased of you is the best I have aver used or seen. It eleans the grain as well as the best Fanning Mill. The farmers are so well pleased with its work that they say they will not have any other machine in their barns. Forward to me a sawing machine. Respectfully, Robeltz Scott.

This may certify I am acquainted with Mr. Soott who is an old thresher and has run Threshing machines for over 14 years and run four different machines before this time.

been looking over your statements of threshing and sawing and will tell you what I have done with one of East Elmone, Dec. 4, 1874.

Messrs. A. W. Gray & Nons-Gentlemes — I have been looking over your statements of threshing and sawing and will tell you what I have done with one of your machines. I have hreshed 29 bushels of oats in 19 minutes, and I have sawed one maple log 18 inches in diameter at the top end, nine times in two in seven minutes, with a drag saw machine, and I know I can do better than that. Hospectfully.

Bayoline has done for me. Lan 72 years old, and had lost nearly all my hair from sickness; was in a fin way to lose all of it, as nothing which I had tried did me any good. When I had nearly despite of getting any relief, I purchased a bottle of Bayoline, and began its use. Almost immediate relief was the result. My hair stopped failing out, and soon a new growth of hair started. I have now used four bottles, and I have nearly as thick a hoad of hair as I ever have had. I as means content to use it in any way you deem fit. Kespectfully yours,
